

Yes, I'd like to invest in my community.

I am concerned about the high cost of housing in my neighborhood and in the region. I would like to become part of the solution by joining the 270 investors in the OpenDoor Housing Fund and/or making a tax-deductible contribution. I understand that my investment would be pooled with investments from other individuals and institutions and lent out to affordable housing developers to help poor people stay in or buy their first home. Tax-deductible contributions support the operations of the organization.
